

Newport Harbor Bonds Unanimously Endorsed

EVERYBODY FAVORED BONDS FOR HARBOR

CITIZENS' MEETING FRIDAY EVENING.

HALF A MILLION IN BONDS

Motion to Endorse Improvement of Harbor by Bond Issue
Was Carried by Unanimous Vote.

There was a citizens' meeting at the Princess Theatre Friday night of last week, to consider the matter of the development of the proposed county harbor at Newport bay, and a motion prevailed unanimously, as follows: "That it is the sense of this meeting that we advocate and support county harbor improvement at Newport Beach, and that our delegates to the Associated Chambers of Commerce are directed to vote accordingly."

The meeting was called to order by E. E. French, president of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce, who asked for a report of the committee appointed at the last meeting of the Chamber to investigate the harbor question and report at the citizens' meeting. R. L. Obarr was chairman of the committee, but was unable to be present, and the report was made by Judge C. W. Warner, who said that the report might not be of any special interest, as the committee was able to make only a superficial examination, including the size of the bay and lineup of conditions. The committee was taken over the bay and was surprised at the magnitude of the surface of Newport bay. If one-half the money was spent at Newport Beach as at San Pedro or Long Beach, Mr. Warner believed there would be a much better harbor than at either of those places. It was time, he said, for the citizens of Orange county to wake up and realize that the harbor was something worth developing. He said the committee reported that the development of the harbor was a feasible one from a commercial standpoint. Judge Warner said there was no use of anyone thinking that he could reap without sowing, and to get results it would be necessary to spend something for developing a harbor.

Dr. F. E. Wilson said he agreed with the committee's report, but the question was being asked, can we do enough development work to amount to anything? San Pedro has such a good start, and will it pay us to develop another harbor so close by?

Judge Warner replied that there was little weight in the argument that we are too close, as Long Beach is very much closer and the citizens there did not get cold feet and do nothing. He stated he believed that in two decades the harbor at San Pedro would be unable to accommodate the business of this section of the state.

J. A. Armitage of Sunset Beach, a member of the Orange County Harbor Commission, stated that, after looking up the law relative to holding such an election, it was found that, if the supervisors desired, it could be delayed something like three months, which would give everybody ample time to secure satisfactory information on the subject. Mr. Armitage read a list of the probable cost of the improvement, as compiled by Capt. Leeds, an engineer of recognized ability, showing that the total cost would be $497,300, which would be very slight as compared with about $15,000,000 spent at San Pedro.

The principal address of the evening was made by Robert L. Bisby, one of the Orange county boosters, who is loaded with constructive ideas on most subjects. Mr. Bisby stated that he owned no beach property, and, therefore, had no ax to grind, and that he had interests in Santa Ana upon which the taxes amounted to about $5,000, so he was somewhat interested as one of the taxpayers who would have to help foot the bill for the harbor bonds.

There was no denying the fact Mr. Bisby said, that the harbor improvement would make a seemingly increase in the tax rate, but the valuation of the improvements that were bound to follow the development of Newport harbor would more than equalize any apparent increase.

Mr. Bisby said he was in Long Beach when the harbor was developed there, and swampy land that was assessed at a very nominal sum had been converted into an industrial district with an assessed valuation of more than $5,000,000.

He said he could remember the time when there were three lumber schooners unloading at one time at Newport harbor, and if they were landing there today we would be buying lumber 67 cents less per 1000 feet than under present conditions. He did not expect to see a big harbor developed at once, he said, as that would require several years. He informed those present that they would pay for Newport harbor whether it was built or not, as freight rates in this county were higher than they would be if there was a terminal at Newport. Therefore, the harbor was being paid for whether it was ever constructed or not.

M. A. Turner said that everybody realized the value of water transportation, and there was no doubt but what all property in this section of the county would be increased in value with the development of a harbor at Newport bay.

L. M. Lindsley, a member of the committee appointed by the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce, stated that he had been on the jury for some time and had not talked with a man who was opposed to the harbor, and he really believed that those in other sections of the county were more in favor of the improvement than were the people here.

City Attorney Alex. P. Nelson said look where you will and it will be found that cities are built where rail and water meet, and there was no doubt but what a big industrial city would follow the development of a harbor at Newport bay, and that Huntington Beach would be the residential section for it, just as Long Beach is for San Pedro.

Mr. Nelson made the motion to endorse the improvement, which prevailed unanimously.

Mr. Armitage said that the probable amount of the bond issue would be $500,000, and that the increase in the tax rate the first year would be 6 cents on each $100 of the assessed valuation.

MADE HIS LIVING

HUNTING BUFFALO.

There is a man in Huntington Beach who made his living for two years hunting buffalo in Colorado Territory, being W. L. Henderson, who, with Mrs. Henderson, are visiting with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Bristol, of Tenth and Walnut.

Of course, it has been some time ago since Mr. Henderson marketed buffalo meat, as it was back in 1872-3 that he roamed the plains of Eastern Colorado in search of the shaggy-maned bison.

Mr. Henderson is a retired farmer, who tilled the soil in the vicinity of Sterling, Colorado, for many years. Since selling their farm two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson have been traveling much of the time, having made two trips from Colorado to California in their Chandler "Six," and have also been to the Hawaiian Islands.

WILL FARM NEXT YEAR WITH A TRACTOR.

Earl Farrar of the Springdale district was in Huntington Beach Monday and stated that he had harvested about half of his 80-acre crop of beets, which were averaging about 19 tons to the acre and testing about 18 per cent. Mr. Farrar also has 40 acres of lima beans.

Mr. Farrar has purchased a tractor, which will be delivered some time next month, and will be used in his farm work the coming season. This tractor was ordered last June, and since that time the price has advanced $150, and a plow, which Mr. Farrar ordered a little later, has advanced $69 in price, which shows that farm machinery is soaring along with everything else.

A LUNG MOTOR HAS BEEN PURCHASED

PROTEST IMPROVEMENT OF FIRST STREET.

MATTER LAID OVER ONE WEEK

Automobile Club of Sou. Cal.
Offers to Place Signs at R.
R. Crossings at One-Half Actual Cost.

There was a brief session of the city trustees Monday night for the purpose of hearing protests against the improvement of portions of First, Second and Third streets.

There were two protests filed, each of them being against the improvement of First street. There were no objections to the proposed work on the other streets. The protestants were the Huntington Beach Company and Pacific Electric Railway Company, owning about 75 per cent of the frontage on that portion of First street included in the district.

President Tarbox suggested that the matter be laid over until next Monday, and, on motion of Trustee Vavra, it was so disposed of.

Trustee Chapin, of the committee appointed to consider the purchase of a Lungmotor, reported that he found the Lungmotor had been adopted by the navy and army and in hospitals generally throughout the country. He stated that one could be purchased for $135, payable in 60 days, and moved that the city purchase one. The motion prevailed, after being seconded by Trustee Vavra.

A representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California was present and stated that the new state law required all counties and municipalities to post signs at railroad crossings on or before January 27th, 1918. The company, he said, would place regulation steel enameled signs at a cost of $2.75 each and maintain them indefinitely. The cost of the signs placed, he stated, was about $5.50.

City Manager Spencer stated that one of the tire companies had agreed to erect such signs free of cost, and he had granted permission to do so. President Tarbox told the automobile club representative to leave his contracts and the matter would be taken under advisement.

Other city officials present, besides the ones before mentioned, were; Trustees Huston and Decker; City Clerk Nutt; City Attorney Nelson.

Citizens present included: H. L. Heffner, Fire Chief G. S. Bergey, Henry Gibbs, H. V. Anderson, W. J. Williams, Mrs. Alex. P. Nelson.

CONSERVATORY WILL MOVE OCTOBER FIRST.

WILL OCCUPY ROOMS IN BANK BUILDING.

Mrs. Valentine Cunningham announces that she will move the Valentine Conservatory of Music and Arts to the rooms in the bank building now occupied by Dr. Chapin and Dr. Shank. Mrs. Dora White of Los Angeles has been added to the faculty of the conservatory.

The patronage of the conservatory is growing rapidly, due to the splendid results Mrs. Cunningham has to her credit in the community since she opened the conservatory. The satisfied parents and pupils are the cause of the growth in business.

A reception will be given at the new home Saturday, October 6th, from 2 to 5 and 8 to 10 p. m.

HAS RESIDED IN THIS VICINITY FOR 38 YEARS.

George W. Bradley, residing a short distance south of Talbert, was in Huntington Beach Saturday of last week, and, when asked how long he had been in this section of California, stated that he landed at Garden Grove 38 years ago and has been in this section of the valley since that time. The only ones he can recall as being here at that time are R. E. Larter and Hansler Larter.

FIRST MEETING PARENT- TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

DATE OF RECEPTION TO TEACH-ERS NOT FIXED.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Tuesday evening in the Grammar school.

Mrs. Owen D. Peters, president of the association, presided and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Geo. O. Franklin, owing to the absence of Mrs. W. A. Double, secretary.

Treasurer Alfred Onson stated there was the sum of $16.50 in the treasury.

Mrs. Peters stated she thought the association should show its appreciation of the services rendered by S. S. Lavering, janitor of the school, who had uncomplainingly performed considerable extra work on account of the various meetings held in the school building. Mrs. Peters believed that a cash donation from the treasury would be more satisfactory than some other present that might be made.

Mrs. Franklin said she would be pleased to see the organization recognize the good work done by Mr. Lavering.

At the suggestion of Mr. Onson, the treasurer was directed to draw a check for $10 in favor of Mr. Lavering.

Mrs. Peters reported that the victrola had been paid for and there were $3.25 to the credit of the association with the Wallace Music Co. of Santa Ana.

After some discussion, it was decided to defer the matter of arranging for a reception to teachers. The next meeting of the association will be held Tuesday evening, October 1st. The mothers' meeting will be Friday afternoon, October 5th.

PLANTED HIS LAWN TO DEVIL GRASS.

G. W. FOWLER DIGS OUT HIS CLOVER.

Some of those who have enjoyed seeing the fine lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fowler of 309 Tenth street were surprised a few days ago to see that the grass had entirely disappeared.

Mr. Fowler dug out the clover and has been busy this week setting out devil grass in its place. When asked why he was planting devil grass when most everybody in California are trying to keep it out of their lawns, Mr. Fowler replied that he might as well plant it, as it was impossible to keep it out as long as it was growing in adjoining lawns, and, if proper care was taken, devil grass made a good lawn.

Mr. Fowler has been complimented upon having the finest front yard in Huntington Beach, and the growth of devil grass will be awaited with interest. Kentucky blue grass was also sown in the yard, and Mr. Fowler thinks the combination will be a good one.

E. C. WRIGHT KILLS A DEER.

E. C. Wright returned Sunday from his vacation, spent on the south fork of Kern river. Mr. Wright and Judge Z. B. West of Santa Ana were members of a party that left August 28th for the mountains of the Kern river district.

Three bucks were killed by members of the party, Mr. Wright landing one of them. The killing of this deer is no fish story, as Mr. Wright presented several of his friends with choice cuts of venison, Monday.

It was Mr. Wright's first attempt at deer hunting, and the result shows that he was not seized at the critical time with buck "ager." The buck was about a city block distant when sighted and the shot took effect in the animal's neck.

RED CROSS WORK WAS HIGHLY APPRECIATED.

The articles that have been prepared by the Huntington Beach auxiliary of the American Red Cross were taken to Santa Ana Friday of last week, and the officials in charge were so pleased with the work that it was stated it would be placed on exhibition.

C. OF C. WILL MEET TONIGHT

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

Arrangements Will Probably Be Made for Another Banquet, and a Reception to Teachers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce will be held in the library building this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock. There are several important matters that may be discussed at this meeting, among them being another banquet, and a reception to teachers.

Every citizen who is interested in the progress of the community, whether a member of the Chamber of Commerce or not, is invited to attend these meetings.

JEWELER AND GARDENER.

T. R. Canady, the well-known jeweler, has demonstrated that gardening on vacant city lots can be made profitable if one knows how and is willing to work.

The city trustees agreed at the first meeting in May that lots would be plowed free of charge for those who desired to plant them, and the next morning, May 5th, Mr. Canady had a claim consisting of 5 lots staked off on Third street, near Walnut avenue. He began planting a few days later and is still at it.

May 18th, Mr. Canady planted some Oregon Evergreen and Country Gentleman corn, which made him famous as a grower of fine sweet corn, as he has been highly complimented upon the splendid quality of the corn, which was placed in the grocery stores. Other vegetables grown on the tract were: Tomatoes, Summer and Hubbard squash, orka, lima and Kentucky Wonder beans.

While there still remains some things to be sold, Mr. Canady estimates that his net profit will be a little over $25.00, besides what has been used for family consumption.

The ground has been prepared for the second crop, which will consist of potatoes, peas, onions, cauliflower, beets, turnips, carrots, parsnips, lettuce and spinach.

"THE GREATER LAW" FOR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"THE MORTAL SIN" WILL

A halo of mystery and romance always pervades the stories of the Great Silent North, and the picturization of these has reached the climax in Lynn Reynolds' Bluebird production, "The Greater Law," which will be seen at the Princess on Saturday night. This is one of the most pictorially beautiful photoplays ever turned out by the great Bluebird company. Myrtle Gonzalez, George Hernandez and Lawrence Peyton are featured as players, and the picture was photographed in the dead of winter in the heart of the Sierras, where a Klondike "atmosphere" was fittingly reflected amid the vistas of grand mountain peaks backing broad expanses of snow and landscapes flecked with evergreen and shrubbery.

This romance tells the story of a girl who travelled alone to the Klondike to avenge her brother's murder, only to find in the end that her brother had never been killed. Incidentally, she stirs a bustling mining camp to unusual excitement and wins a husband out of the turmoil and strife she creates while prosecuting her mission of vengeance.

Sunday night will be a night of true comedy. A 2-reel drama, a 2-reel comedy and a single-reel farce comedy comprise the bill.

On Tuesday night, pretty and talented Viola Dana will be seen in "The Mortal Sin," one of Metro's latest masterpieces. Miss Dana was seen recently at the Princess in "The Threads of Fate," and made a decidedly good impression on the Huntington Beach audience. In "The Mortal Sin" she has an opportunity for a full display of her emotional powers, and she certainly takes full advantage of those opportunities. This is a play of a wife's sacrifice for her husband. It presents a problem, in the solution of which the author shows that while a man may have wonderfully liberal theories regarding his attitude toward his wife, under trying circumstances those theories are apt to crumble away when confronted with actual conditions. While the theme of the story is somewhat harrowing, the climax is happy and the whole story logical and pleasing.

Usual Tuesday night prices—Adults, 15c; children, 10c.

LODGE BANQUET GIVEN WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Will Kesemann of Smeltzer was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason by Huntington Beach lodge No. 380, Wednesday night, and a banquet was served complimentary to the newest member, after the lodge adjourned.

The lecture for the third degree was delivered by Past Master J. O. Pyle in his usual interesting manner. The senior warden's station was occupied by E. B. Trego of Santa Ana, inspector for this Masonic district, and several other brethren from the capital city were present.

Mr. Kesemann holds the record in the lodge for having taken the degrees and learned the work in less time than any other member who has ever applied for admission, having been but three weeks on the road. This fact was called to the attention of the members before adjournment by Past Master W. E. Gerhart.

Will is a splendid young man 22 years of age, who has enlisted in the aviation service and expects to be called at any time, and states he is anxious to get to France.

SOME FINE EGGLANT.

H. F. Gibbs, residing on the boulevard a short distance from the city, makes a specialty of fine vegetables. Mr. Gibbs sent to the News office one of the largest specimens of eggplant seen this season, measuring 19½x24½ inches.

Mr. Gibbs also has Giant Chinese bell peppers of exceptional size, three of which have been on display with the eggplant.

Society and Personal

Favorably Criticised.

Miss Gladys Conrad, who is with Kosloff's Imperial Russian Ballet dancers in San Francisco, received the following, favorable comments in the San Francisco newspapers, Monday, on the initial performance Sunday, being her first appearance on the Orpheum stage: Examiner—"Dainty Maria Maslova, a very young and attractive dancer, made her local debut in a butterfly dance, later appearing with Kosloff in two classical numbers." Chronicle—"The violinist earned an encore readily, for his imitation of a canary bird—as I thought it to be, until the program informed me that it was a nightingale. Maria Maslova, a wisp of a little lady danced with agile fleetness." Call—"Maria Maslova, dainty, youthful, appeared to advantage in one of Tchaikowsky's themes, and later danced a classical adagio with Kosloff." Mrs. Conrad will leave Saturday evening over the Santa Fe to join her daughter.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL OPEN NEXT MONDAY.

OPENING DELAYED FOR FARM WORK.

The Huntington Beach Union High School will open next Monday morning. The opening is later than usual this year in order to allow some of the students to assist in beet harvesting.

The school is fortunate this year in having V. B. Brown as principal, as he is not only a man of splendid character, but entertains progressive and constructive ideas along educational lines.

Although several students have joined the colors, the indications are that the registration will be close to normal, as Mr. Brown has been doing some good work in behalf of the school during the past month.

BROOM FACTORY WILL SOON BE OPERATING.

MR. AND MRS. H. A. BOWMAN RETURN FROM EAST.

The factory of the Beach Broom Company will soon be in operation, as Manager Harry A. Bowman has returned from the east and has a carload of broom corn on the road. As soon as the stock arrives the plant will be in operation on a more extensive scale than ever before.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson of Long Beach, parents of Mrs. Bowman, returned Saturday evening from an extensive eastern trip of three months' duration. The trip was made in Mr. Bowman's Studebaker "Six," and the speedometer showed that 5,500 miles were traveled.

Going east, the Santa Fe trail was followed, and returning, the party came over the Arrowhead trail, and the roads, Mr. Bowman states, are something awful. Mr. Bowman visited St. Louis and Wichita, the great broom corn markets, and purchased his stock in the Kansas metropolis, which he states is fast becoming a commercial and manufacturing center.

Mr. Bowman says he is not only glad to return to California, but feels that he never wants to leave the good roads again.

Dickey-Dickey Wedding.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Storey of Pasadena, at 4:30 p. m., Monday, September 24th, Samuel Dickey of Corona, and Mrs. Eva M. Dickey of Westminster were united in marriage. The engagement was not sudden, but the wedding date and arrangements were. It preceded the leaving for Stanford University of Miss Henrietta Dickey. Only the immediate family was present. Rev. W. T. Wardle, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, officiated. Amid all the adornments which love and affection could show for the interested parties, in the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Storey, the service was held. Choice refreshments followed the ceremony, Mrs. Storey being ably assisted in the serving by her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Ella Parker. After the congratulations the company motored to Los Angeles, where they witnessed the departure of Miss Dickey, after which they departed for their respective homes in Van Nuys, Pasadena, Westminster and Corona. Mr. and Mrs. Dickey are among the best known and respected and loved people in the communities where they have resided. Westminster is glad to welcome one who has been a frequent visitor, now to become a permanent resident. We shall not have to learn any new names, nor try to find a warm place for one or both in our hearts, it has always been there. Congratulations will be coming from New York and Texas, and from Riverside, Orange and Los Angeles counties, and the regions far and wide.

WEEKLY GREETING.

The surest way to write for all time is to embody the present in the finest sincerity and with the frankest truthfulness. The surest way to write for other lands is to be true to our own land and true to the scenes and people we love, and love in a human and direct way without being educated up to it or down to it.—Hamlin Garland.

THE HARBOR BONDS.

The citizens of Orange county will have the privilege of voting on an issue of bonds for the construction of a commercial harbor at Newport Beach in the near future. This is one of the most important matters that has been up for consideration since the bonds for good roads. There were many who voted against the good roads bonds, but how many today would vote to sell them for double what they have cost?

No fact is more thoroughly established than that great development has always followed the building of good harbors. Practically all of the large cities of the United States are located where commercial commodities pass through warehouses from railroad cars to water craft, and vice versa.

There is no use for any voter to delude himself into believing that the construction of a harbor at Newport Beach by a county bond issue will be a donation to the citizens of that city or anyone else. The building of this harbor will be one of the very best investments that this county can possibly make at this time, as the savings in freight rates will much more than pay for the improvement. Of course, the harbor investment must be considered in the same manner as any other investment. If one purchases real estate as an investment, he does not expect to double his money in one year, but believes that in time he will reap his reward. It is the same way with the harbor, it will require time for the investment to be returned to the taxpayers in the way of lower freight rates and increased valuation contiguous to the harbor.

There should not be a vote against the harbor bonds in Huntington Beach.

How many other things might be tolerated in peace and left to conscience, had we but charity, and were it not the chief stronghold of our hypocrisy to be ever judging one another.—John Milton.

The true sage is not he who sees, but he who, seeing the farthest, has the deepest love for mankind. He who sees without loving is only straining his eyes in the darkness.—Maeterlinck.

EDISON COMPANY MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

700,000 HORSEPOWER OF ELECTRICITY ANTICIPATED.

Every city in Southern California will benefit through the expenditure of $2,000,000 authorized by the Southern California Edison Company in increasing the heights of the Huntington lake dams in the High Sierras, in order to furnish additional electrical energy throughout the south.

The work, which is going on, has been made possible through the settlement of the controversies between the Edison Company and the cities of Pasadena and Los Angeles.

In addition, the merger of the Edison Company with the Pacific Light & Power Corporation and its subsidiaries, the Mt. Whitney Power Company and the Ventura Company, has been a powerful factor in this development.

At the same time, in a spirit of co-operation, the Edison Company has put into effect a profit-sharing plan, by which its patrons and the general public, as well as its officers and employees are to share in this saving and in the future development of the company, and the securities of the company are being rapidly subscribed on this profit-sharing basis.

The huge dams that impound the water of Huntington lake are being raised 31 feet, which will increase the amount of water impounded 73 per cent, and form a lake containing 90,200 acre-feet of water.

To do this work 130,000 barrels of cement, or 700 carloads, were required. More than 1000 men are employed on this work.

The increase in the height of the dam will permit at some future date the installation of penstocks for additional units of 16,500 kilowatts, each in both power plants now constructed, or a total of 66,000 kilowatts, or 85,000 horsepower.

With the 35,000 horsepower already created, this will give 170,000 horsepower to Big Creek in power plants No. 1 and No. 2.

Located in the High Sierras, 7000 feet above the sea; 75 miles east of Fresno, reached over a railroad 56 miles of which was built at the cost of $1,000,000 in 100 working days, to carry in the necessary machinery and supplies, the Big Creek plant has already cost $15,000,000.

The power from this plant is carried over two 3-phase circuits of aluminum steel cored cables, each of the 6 cables larger than the famous Atlantic cable.

These cables are carried on two lines of steel towers a distance of 241 miles from Big Creek to the Eagle Rock sub-station in Los Angeles.

The water for this power is confined in a natural basin 5 miles long and a mile wide by three dams, in which 35,000 carloads of cement have already been used, and one dam is already higher than any office building in Los Angeles.

Already two 12-story power houses are in operation at a cost of $600,000 each, and already 5 miles of tunnels, 12 feet in diameter, have been built through solid granite. The power transmission cables already in use took 3,000,000 pounds of aluminum, the entire output of this metal in the United States for a year, while 14,500 tons of steel were used in building the transmission towers.

The two water drops in use are 2180 and 1850 feet, respectively, for the power plants already built, and the water in these tubes at the top of the fall enters pipes 9 feet in diameter, and comes out through 4-inch nozzles, striking the water wheel with a force of approximately 1000 pounds to the square inch, or about 200 pounds greater than the pressure of exploding nitroglycerine.

The complete power project in the Big Creek district, as planned, calls for two more power houses, through which some water will pass, and, in addition, the San Joaquin river will be diverted through a nine-mile tunnel into Big Creek, just below power house No. 2, where a concrete dam will be built.

The water from the river and that from the tail race of power house No. 2 will be confined by a dam and turned through a tunnel 4 1/2 miles long to the third power house. There the water will have a drop of 1300 feet.

After the water has spent its force in the third power house, it will pass on through a tunnel 4 miles long, to power house No. 4, and be used again to turn the mighty steel wheels. The fall of the water at the last power house will be only 600 feet, but its increased volume will make up for the short distance of the drop, as compared with the elevations at the other power houses.

If the project is completed along the lines contemplated, its combined generating capacity will be 700,000 horsepower, or about twice the amount of electricity that is used at the present time in the ten counties of Southern California.

125,000 FEET OF DRAIN TILE FOR IRVINE RANCH.

One of the largest orders ever given for drain tile in this section of California is the one now being delivered by the La Bolsa Tile Company of this city to the great Irvine ranch, south of Santa Ana.

The order consists of 125,000 feet of tile, practically all of which is 4-inch pipe, and is being delivered at the rate of 2,000 feet per day by M. D. Rosenberger of the Huntington Beach Transfer Company. This order calls for 23½ miles of pipe and is one that the officials of the tile company may feel justly elated over.

Arrangements are being made to use natural gas at the La Bolsa Tile Company's works, a 3-inch main being laid for that purpose.

A. W. Griffith is manager of the company.

NEW BLACKSMITH HAS BEEN ENGAGED.

POLAND'S SHOP IS AGAIN OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

Gilbert A. Poland has now secured the services of a good, reliable blacksmith, and his shop on Third street is again taking care of the trade as usual. The new smith is J. D. McNeill of Murrieta Hot Springs, and he arrived in Huntington Beach Wednesday night and reported for duty this morning. Mr. McNeill will soon move his family into a house on Sixth street.

Mr. Poland's shop was unable to handle the business for a few days, owing to the sudden decampment of one of the workmen, who left while Mr. Poland was out, not stating his reasons for doing so.

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS ENDORSE HARBOR BONDS.

At the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, at Yorba Linda, Wednesday evening, there was not a dissenting vote on the proposed issue of bonds of the county for the improvement of the harbor at Newport Beach.

Twenty-three of the twenty-eight commercial organizations held special meetings and approved the project.

WILL HEAR SUNDAY SOME TIME NEXT MONTH.

Word has been received from the Sunday organization that the Huntington Beach delegation cannot be accommodated October 2nd, 4th or 9th, as had been expected.

Rev. Robert John Coyne, pastor of the Methodist church, has the matter in charge and is in Los Angeles today making final arrangements, the probable date being Thursday evening, October 11th.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

(By the School.)

Boyden Hall has been chosen to teach the overflow room of the 7th and 8th grades. This is the position that Miss Reith was to have filled. The school considers itself fortunate in having three men on its faculty, instead of the customary one.

Miss Mildred Mitchell has been chosen as part-time teacher. This enables the school to hold certain 5th graders from being demoted, certain 4th graders that are old enough but weak in only one subject to be promoted into the 5th grade, and it also prevents the large 4th grade from being divided. Beside this work, Miss Mitchell is helping certain 2nd and 3rd grade pupils. It certainly seems that with the above provisions, together with the old faculty and carefully kept records, each pupil will get the best for himself that a school could offer or give.

Interclass Grammar school baseball was ushered in before a large crowd of students Wednesday. More than enough boys came to fill the two teams. Mr. Hall, of the ungraded and 7th grade combined teams, pitted his nine against Mr. Skinner's 8th grade. MacDonald hurled for the former, allowing only 7 hits. Page twirled steady ball for the seniors, allowing only six bingles. Every boy showed lots of pep, the final score being 9 to 5. Mr. Hall umpired balls and strikes, with Mr. Skinner on the bases and keeping score. Several girls from school occupied seats in the bleachers. At least one game a week will be played by these two teams.

The line-up: 8th grade—Masters, 1b; B. Page, p; Dalby, ss; Davis, lf; Hawes, c; Hazard, rf; L. Hurst, 3b; C. Nolder, 2b; P. Adair, cf.

Ungraded and 7th—Armour, cf; McSwain, 1b; H. Page, rf; Remp, c; Rabor, 3b; Fortune, ss; Lawrence, 2b; E. Probert, lf; MacDonald, p.

VIVID ACCOUNT OF THE CHARGE ON VIMY RIDGE.

The following account of the charge on Vimy ridge by the Canadians was written by E. G. Davey, husband of Mrs. Davey, who is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Endicott:

On Easter Sunday evening, just as it was getting dark, we moved from the support trenches towards the western slope of the ridge. Crossing the valley, which was more or less liquid mud ankle deep and pitted with shell holes of all sizes, we moved up the slope and entered one of a series of tunnels that had been burrowed into the heart of the ridge. Our artillery was shelling Fritz steadily, the same as many nights before. Once in the tunnels we settled down to sleep, for we knew we had to be up and in our positions before dawn. At 3 a. m. on Easter Monday we were awakened and had some hot tea and some bacon and bread we had brought with us in our dummies. About an hour before dawn we filed out of the tunnel to take up our positions in the "jumping off" trenches. It seemed we were just settled, when the order to "go" was given. This was a rocket, on our left, and immediately every gun and battery behind us sent over a barrage that was perfect. They simply poured shells onto Fritz's front line, and, of course, we started on our journey across "No Man's Land." Our objective—that is, the 78th Batt., was a point just past Fritz's 3rd line, or about 1400 yards from our starting place. We advanced steadily behind our barrage, working in and out and around shell holes, both large and small. Comparatively few casualties occurred till we got to the German front line. This was a mass of shambles, showing what good work our artillery had done. Fritz now fairly had the "wind up" and was sending up S. O. S. signals of all descriptions, quite a pyrotechnic display. We continued to advance behind our barrage, which was "jumping forward" at intervals, and after passing Fritz's front line our casualties seemed to begin. Shells were dropping all around. Shrapnel bursting above us, and machine guns were busy. Men were dropping all around, but one takes little notice. That objective point seems to be the one place to get to and then take it as easy as you can when you get there. I remember after passing the German 2nd line there were about 8 men in front of me. We were steadily and slowly pushing on. Others stayed to rout out the Germans from dugouts, etc., and the prisoners came along in shoals, some half witted through the terrible bombardment they had been under, and all more or less scared.

When about to the 3rd line I got mine and went down in a heap. After finding I was still alive, I crawled to a shell hole, where I lay for about 3 hours gasping. A stretcher bearer passing saw me, and, ripping part of my tunic away, dressed my wound in my shoulder. My clothes were soaked in blood, but, as he could do no more for me, the stretcher bearer moved on. After a while a big bunch of German prisoners passed quite close and the guard made two of them carry me along with them, and so I arrived at the dressing station and on the first stage to "Blighty." As to the Batt., I have since learned that they did not get relieved till the Friday, about 4 p. m., and on the roll call back at billets about 140 answered their names. We were about 1200 strong before going over. So one can say the 78th did its share. Col. Kirkcaldy has won the D. S. O., and although several men have got the military medal (one the D. C. M.), every man has done equally good service, and I know Col. Kirkcaldy was proud of us. The men would follow him anywhere, because he looked after his men.

ECONOMY.

In time of war waste nothing. Thousands of paper bags are burned which might be kept clean and used a second time; besides, it would bring a smile to your grocer.

This morn a thoughtful neighbor Came tapping at my door,
To help along the war.
The cake was most delicious,
Exceeding light and fine,
And made to please the President—
No butter, eggs or wine.

MR. OLDS WRITES FROM AMERICAN LAKE, WASH.

SAYS HE IS ENJOYING LIFE AT CAMP LEWIS.

Huntington Beach News:

Just a word from Camp Lewis might interest your readers:

This morning I was assigned to a special detail and we are receiving the boys, filling out more blanks and sending them in for their final physical examinations. This is much more complete and ends with a vaccination and a typhoid prophylactic injection. After passing through this stage, the men are fully mustered into the National Army.

All of Orange county will probably come into Co. F, Reg. 364. A skeleton company has already been formed and we await their arrival, which is expected Saturday. Our barracks, while a little unfinished, are comfortable. We have a dining room and small squad room, for fifty men, downstairs, and three similar squad rooms upstairs. The heater is being installed now, as well as a hot-water heater for the showers in the bath house.

Our meals are very good indeed. Each soldier has an individual kit of pan and cover, cup, knife, fork and spoon. We form in cafeteria style and receive our rations. There is to be a sufficiency of food, so a second helping may be taken. Every bit of food is figured in caloric values, so we are safeguarded. Yesterday we had broiled steaks, and this morning fried mush. We have seen the army bean but once. Our mess sergeant, Bruce, of Santa Ana, is a hustler, and our contentment speaks louder than words.

Our cots are iron and we sleep on ticks filled with straw. I discovered the secret of filling the topmost part a little fuller and it raises the head. Since coming here I borrowed a pillow—others have purchased them—and now I sleep like a "regular." Two blankets, the regulation number, were not sufficient, so our captain gave us a third—peace to him!

It is pretty damp. As a rule, it is supposed to rain every day. The weather is not distinctly cold, but we note the briskness in the early morning at "reveille."

Our uniforms are coming piecemeal. Three suits of heavy underwear, shirts and drawers; two O. D.—olive drab—shirts; four socks; hat and blue hat-cord; heavy work shoes for trench or field service; an overcoat; belt, we have already. We expect our trousers and blouses in a few days.

Camp Lewis is ideal. I keep thinking it is a university and refer to the parade grounds as a campus. The soil is rocky and that will be an advantage, in that the rains will not make the ground unfit for drilling in the "real" rainy weather. Nature has grown a thick grouping of trees, and to the east is to be seen the ever-inspiring sight of Mt. Ranier.

Let me here offer a suggestion: Those who have late magazines that they wish to donate could not do a better piece of work than send them direct to some individual or company. We have no, or little, reading matter, outside of the occasional daily paper and periodicals not to be removed from the Y. M. C. A. Don't you like a bed-time article?

We are about sixteen miles distant from Tacoma. There is an excellent boulevard, well paved, and jitneys run frequently at a charge of 35 cents for a one-way fare. Seattle is forty odd miles away and is reached by steamer or rail. Last Saturday our company had a twenty-four-hour furlough and eight of us spent the week-end in Seattle—a city built on hills.

Our officers are wonderfully fine men, and the whole group of the first five per cent of the drafted men were well chosen. We have had to put up with a few inconveniences, but everything is taken philosophically. We really chafe at the delay and want the military training. Our officers present many compliments upon the application put into our work. Everyone has an I. D. R. and we like to be told once, then look it up and study. There is an enthusiasm about the camp that characterizes us as Americans.

At the dedication of the first of the five Y. M. C. A. buildings, I heard Major-General Greene speak, as well as Governor Lister of Washington. We feel that we, members of the National Army, are to be envied for the chance to serve our country. Why we have slackers, or those who hide behind slender exemption excuses, is almost inconceivable. We have everything to gain.

When I look upon the general make-up of the average American, and myself as a closer example, I am more than ever convinced that we should have military training in our schools. What discipline and command we would all have!

This has been written between jobs, but I know you are anxious to hear about the boys at Camp Lewis. Frankly, if you read the newspapers, you know more of what is really taking place here than we ourselves.

SERGEANT TURNER WRITES AGAIN.
IS NOW LOCATED AT MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

Beaumont, Texas,
Sept. 19th, 1917.

Editor News:

I believe the last I wrote to my friends was of my arrival at Presidio, Cal. I think now that I will tell you something of the life in that camp and of the treatment the men are given. Our duties started Monday morning, September 10th. We were first marched to the clothing department, where each man was given a hat, two shirts, one pair trousers, one pair shoes, hat braid, U. S. buttons for the rank and branch of service, two suits underwear, four pair socks, one coat, one pair leggings, belt, extra shoe strings and hat cord. Our suits are of the olive drab woolen kind. We expect a suit of kahki to use for working when we reach our training camp.

After we had secured our clothing we were dismissed to get our beds and to ship back our old clothes. At first making beds was quite a job, as they are made up according to army regulations and no edges are allowed to show on pillow slips, sheets or blankets. Yes, we were indeed in luck to have sheets, but we do not expect as good treatment as that in other places. At 2:30 p. m. we were marched down to the hospital, where we were vaccinated and given our first inoculation for typhoid fever. After that we were given the remainder of the day to lie around and get sick or leave camp and see the cities of Berkeley, Oakland or San Francisco, or where we might see fit to go. My friends and I saw these places, in preference to waiting to get sick. Don't let anyone scare you about the inoculation. It is true some faint, but that is usually because they are scared into it. Most people get sick from five to thirty-six hours afterwards, if they are bothered at all. Most of the boys are not bothered. However, I fainted in roll call the next morning at six o'clock.

A little warning to the drafted or enlisting men. Don't take anything you care very much for, and don't take any more than you positively have to. Remember you will have to carry everything you own on your back in a little 10x12 knapsack. Not only do you have to take your own stuff, but a good deal which the Government expects you to carry.

Presidio has a very fine arrangement for sleeping. If you go there you will have a nice wooden house to sleep in and have a cot with springs to sleep on. There are about forty sleep in the same room, but they are well ventilated. The men are put through about five hours' drill or work each day. Every man learns to drill, use a gun and side arms, no matter what branch of the service he is in.

No. 216 Auto Truck Co. has found her officers very capable and nice men to get along with, and we indeed hope to find the rest the same. At one time there were over six hundred sergeant chauffeurs at Presidio.

What the men dread most is what is known as K. P., which means kitchen police. This is the helping or getting of meals. When a man is appointed for this job he is expected to go on duty at six o'clock in the morning and continue at same for forty-eight hours, when he is released from duty of all kinds for twenty-four hours. While on duty he is expected to do all that may need doing. The days I was on my helper and I scrubbed the floor twice a day, swept out many more times than that, peeled five sacks of spuds, helped wash dishes and waited on tables.

Don't worry—without a bit of fooling—the food you get in the army is good and enjoyable, and any man who kicks ought to be put on K. P. I can say this and mean it, if any boy can, for my mother always kept a good table, and I would soon have been awfully homesick for her cooking if what we had wasn't good.

Now, as for amusements. Well, that is a question which the army as yet has not filled in full. However, the Y. M. C. A. in any camp is always open to our men and there you can go and take in moving pictures, enjoy music or the library, which has the best of books and the latest magazines. Here also you are furnished all the writing paper and envelopes, free of charge, which you might care to use. Then there are the army bands. To be frank, they are the best I ever heard and can be found playing concerts at different hours of the day. They play at the leisure hours of different companies. The churches are always open to our men, and are continually furnishing pleasant evenings for those who care to go. Here you may become acquainted with some very fine young people.

Every camp is always kept in the best possible condition, and you find cleanliness and good nature on every side. However, No. 216, I think has a class of fellows finer than I have seen anywhere else, and about the best natured bunch you could find.

When we left Presidio we were furnished with shell belt and haversack, which was filled with necessary dishes. Our officers went over to Oakland to bid us goodbye, and we were off.

We are having a wonderful trip. My address from now on will be: Sergt. Forest B. Turner, c/o Q. M. C. Chauffeurs No. 216, Montgomery, Alabama.

VOLATILITY OF GASOLINE IS EXPLAINED.

(By J. L. QUINN)

"Specific gravity in itself is of very slight significance in determining the properties of gasoline."

So states the bulletin on motor gasoline just issued by the U. S. bureau of mines. This is the bulletin that gives Uncle Sam's definition of good gasoline and specifications for making and testing it.

The reason why gravity tells so little about gasoline is very simple. All the qualities that go to make gasoline efficient and economical are determined, not by gravity, but by volatility, or the ability to vaporize. And volatility, of course, cannot be gauged by gravity. Gravity is simply another term for weight.

One kind of gasoline may be heavier than another and yet the two may be identical in degree of volatility. Much depends upon the nature of the crude oil.

Becomes Vapor.

Now a liquid that boils easily vaporizes readily. The lower the boiling point the more readily the liquid vaporizes. The higher the boiling point the more difficult becomes vaporization.

Motor fuel, of course, must be vaporized before it enters the cylinders. This is the function of the carburetor. However, to start easily, there must be easy vaporation of the gasoline. But if, after the start, the fuel continues to vaporize with the same rapidity, there will be no "pick up" and a lack of power.

Hence efficient gasoline should have what is known as a continuous chain of boiling points, starting at low and rising gradually and steadily up to fixed point, not so high to include heavy liquids such as kerosene.

Gasoline having the correct chain of boiling points gives easy starting, quick and smooth acceleration, power and mileage.

Referring again to the bulletin of the bureau of mines, this document says:

"Volatility is the basic property that determines the grade and the usefulness of a gasoline. Gasoline should contain a moderate but not excessive proportion of low-boiling constituents, enough to permit easy starting of a cold engine but not enough to make evaporation losses excessive. Gasoline should have a total volatility range wide enough to include constituents that have a high, but not too high, boiling point."

Distilled.

It can be seen from this how impossible it is for gravity to tell anything at all about the boiling points of gasoline, hence it cannot reveal gasoline quality.

Now, how is gasoline made to contain this necessary chain of boiling points?

Gasoline is distilled from crude oil. The oil is placed in a large retort or still and a fire started underneath. A pipe carries off the vapor. This pipe is surrounded by a jacket of cool water which condenses the vapors into liquid.

Naturally the light or volatile liquids in the crude oil come off first because their boiling points are low and they vaporize easily. As the distillation goes on the thermometer on the retort gradually rises, showing that the liquids coming off are becoming less and less volatile.

The entire quantity of condensed liquid thus has a gradually rising chain of boiling points. At the proper point, before the liquid registers too high a temperature, it is diverted into another receptacle and used for other purposes than motor fuel, as it would be too hard to vaporize for use in the high speed automobile motor.

Demand Great.

This process is called straight distillation and is necessary for making gasoline having the proper range of boiling points. It is the original method of manufacturing automobile motor fuel.

The tremendous demand for motor fuel, however, has led to the practice by some producers of blending or mixing casinghead gasoline with a certain percentage of high-boiling point naphthas or other similar products unsuitable for motor use, in the endeavor to turn out suitable motor fuel cheaply. A casinghead gasoline is obtained by compressing natural gas from oil wells into liquid form. It is far too volatile to use or handle alone.

Many of these mixtures look like the real thing. But none of them can have the proper chain or boiling points, because no amount of clever mixing can provide the hundreds of necessary connecting links in the chain of boiling points. And, just to show once more the fallacy of the gravity test, most of these mixtures measure up to the supposed standard of gravity.

There is Money in Beach Acreage

There are only 8½ miles of high beach frontage now available close to Los Angeles, and 5 miles is occupied by the cities of Santa Monica, Redondo and Long Beach. Huntington Beach has the other 3½ miles.

If you price close-in acreage at the older and larger beach cities you will find it has reached a figure that is almost prohibitive, and that there is no longer a chance for quick increase and good profits, while at Huntington Beach you can buy good, close-in acreage for

$350 to $500 an Acre
Easy Terms

Full half-acre tracts inside city limits, on or near paved boulevards, with every city convenience.

Only $500

Terms—$50.00 cash, balance $25.00 every three months. Now is the time to buy, while prices are low.

PEERLESS ENGINEERS FAVOR ASPHALT-BASE OIL.

Further recognition for motor oil made from California asphalt-base petroleum was brought to light recently, when a prominent Peerless dealer showed a group of newspaper men a letter from the Peerless factory.

This letter stated that after testing several kinds of oil, the technical department was able to secure uniformly better results with a certain widely-known, advertised motor oil, made here on the Pacific coast from California asphalt-base petroleum, than from any of the oils which they tested.
